He told also of the shooting affray a week ago, and of the trouble the officers had in taking the injured man away.

Committeeman Boylan thought Constables should be deputized for that section. He said that Justice Campbell could probably submit a list of names from which the officers could be chosen. The Justice named Amos De Boine, who he said was willing to take the position. Mr. Boylan said his idea was to have the Sheriff deputize several men.
